Chronographer

The numerous dates in 1 and 2 Machabes are complicated by the fact that apparently some of them are reckoned with the Seleucid Era beginning on 21051 (Oct. 7), 312BC according to the Macedonian Cal. whereas others are reckoned with the era beginning on Nisan 1 (April 3)

311 BC according to the Babylonian Calendar.

In the Babylonian 19-yr cycle, the year began with the first NEW moon after the vernal equinox.

This cycle was adopted in 312 BC as the basis of the official Cal. of the Seleucid Empire in Mesopotamia & Syria, but the Seleucid yr

began in the fall with the new river following the cuttings

The 19-yr cycle was adapted as the official calendar of the Seleucid empire of Mesopotamia and Syria.

Only the Seleucid cal
began in the fall with the new moon following the autumnal equinox.
In Palestine the 19yr cycle was adopted by Hebrews.
